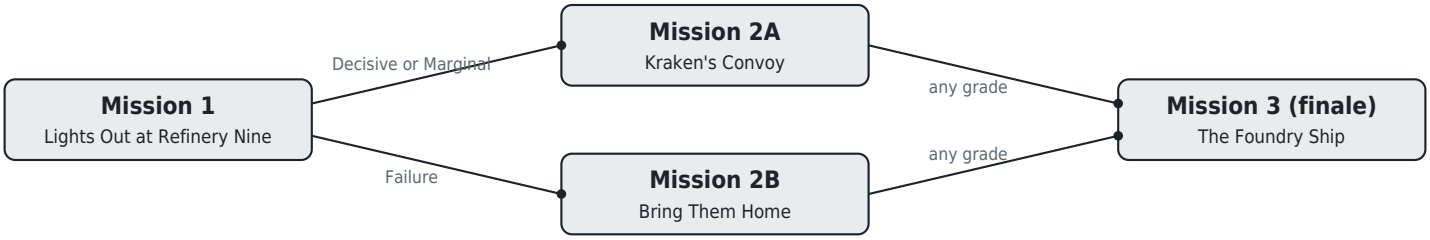
Foundry Moon

Imperator Black short arc · rules v0.5 · chapter 14 · Galactic Republic against the Separatist Alliance · solo · three missions

The Separatists have restarted the droid foundry on Ordo Kessa, a mining moon the Republic thought was worked out. Every few weeks a frigate lifts from its landing field with a battalion of new battle droids. A clone company and its Jedi commander have one window before the next shipment leaves: blind the moon's defence grid, break the droids' command, and stop the ship.



Missions

	Mission	Board	Opposition	Force
1	Lights Out at Refinery Nine Sabotage. Destroy the two uplink masts and get out.	Industrial table, 36" × 36" (generated layout)	Separatist Alliance, tier 1	250 TV, 6 models
2A	Kraken's Convoy Capture a high-value target: Kraken's memory core.	Desert table, 35" × 43" (Gym 2)	Separatist Alliance, tier 2	300 TV, 7 models
2B	Bring Them Home Recover personnel: the gunship's pilot.	Desert table, 35" × 43" (Gym 2)	Separatist Alliance, tier 2	300 TV, 7 models
3	The Foundry Ship Sabotage. Destroy the bridge and engineering, and get out.	Frigate command deck, 30" × 18" (corvette layout, deck 8)	Separatist Alliance, tier 3	350 TV, 8 models (400 or 300 after 2B)

What each grade leads to

	Grade	Next
1	Decisive	Mission 2A, Kraken's Convoy. The grid is down and the landing is clean: the Republic wins initiative in round 1 of 2A.
1	Marginal	Mission 2A, Kraken's Convoy. The grid is down, but the droids know a raid came: 2A's alert track starts at 1.
1	Failure	Mission 2B, Bring Them Home. The grid stays up and shoots down the gunship bringing the second wave.
2A	Decisive	Mission 3, The Foundry Ship. The core holds the frigate's codes: before setting up, remove two contact chips of your choice.
2A	Marginal	Mission 3, The Foundry Ship. Some codes survived: before setting up, remove one contact chip of your choice.
2A	Failure	Mission 3, The Foundry Ship. Kraken reaches the frigate and warns it: mission 3's alert track starts 1 higher.
2B	Decisive	Mission 3, The Foundry Ship. The pilot flies the surviving gunship: mission 3's force limit is 50 TV higher, and the Republic wins initiative in round 1.
2B	Marginal	Mission 3, The Foundry Ship. The pilot flies the surviving gunship: mission 3's force limit is 50 TV higher.
2B	Failure	Mission 3, The Foundry Ship. No gunship and no pilot: mission 3's force limit is 50 TV lower, and its alert track starts 1 higher.
3	Decisive	The frigate never lifts, and the foundry's next battalion with it. Work out the arc's result (chapter 14, short arcs).
3	Marginal	The frigate is crippled but repairable: the shipment is weeks late. Work out the arc's result.
3	Failure	The Iron Covenant lifts with its battalion. Work out the arc's result.

Short arc rules (chapter 14)

1. A short arc is three authored missions: an opening, a second mission chosen by the opening's grade, and a finale. The arc sheet lists them and what each grade leads to.
2. Roster: any troops of the faction you own. Name every soldier the first time they deploy; they carry their XP, advances and injuries through the arc.
3. Force: each mission sets a Troop Value limit (chapter 15) and a model limit. Before it, choose who deploys from the soldiers fit for duty. Count each soldier at its profile's TV; advances are free.
4. After each mission: casualties and injuries, XP and advances as in a full campaign (chapter 14). An injury that puts a soldier out for turns puts them out for that many missions. A soldier left behind Down is captured and out for the rest of the arc, unless the arc gives a chance to bring them back.
5. Replacements: a Dead, captured or injured soldier of a line profile (a clone trooper, not a named character) may be replaced by a new soldier of the same profile with no XP. A named character who dies is gone for the arc.
6. Grades lead on: the arc sheet says which mission comes next and any edge or setback it carries (a bigger or smaller force, the alert track's start, contacts removed or added).
7. The arc's result is the finale's grade, one step better if the first two missions were both Decisive, one step worse if either was a Failure (Decisive, Marginal, Failure; never past either end).

Foundry Moon: roster and log

Name every soldier the first time they deploy. Per mission: D if deployed, then XP earned; mark Dead, Down (and the injury roll) or Out. An advance every 5 XP. Count each soldier at its profile's TV.

Name	Profile	TV	Mission 1	Mission 2	Mission 3	XP	Advances	Injuries / out	Notes

Mission log

	Mission	Played?	Grade	Edge or setback carried on, citation, what happened
1	Lights Out at Refinery Nine
2A	Kraken's Convoy
2B	Bring Them Home
3	The Foundry Ship

The arc's result

Result	The story
Decisive	The foundry's shipment never leaves Ordo Kessa, and the moon's droid army is blind and leaderless. The company is mentioned in dispatches.
Marginal	The shipment is delayed by weeks, at a price. The foundry will have to be finished by a bigger force.
Failure	The battalion reaches the front. Ordo Kessa keeps building, and the Separatists know the Republic is watching.

Finale grade	One step better (1 and 2 both Decisive)	One step worse (1 or 2 a Failure)	Arc result